PREFACE

My mission is to help people from all walks of life gain financial independence, while caring for the world around us. I believe charity begins at the cash register. It's about earning, caring, and sharing. Generating residual income for everyone concerned, by following an easy, self-rewarding strategy. This book empowers those that seek alternatives to the high cost "I'll show you my secret to making money online!" promises, which is in fact, the exact secret. In contrast, this book will show you 45 clear ways to ACTION your way to financial success. Not hype you up with dreams, give you vague ideas, expecting you to go forth, and make money miracles. Keeping it real, to reap real rewards.

WHO IS THIS BOOK FOR?

The intended audience is anybody, anywhere in the world, who yearns to learn the art of living freely. Looking at life from your point of view: scholars & students; employment seekers; already employed, but always broke; single & stay-at-home parents; administrators & managers; retrenched & retired folks; and successful super affiliates. No technical skills required. Nothing to stock, nor sell.

SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE

In addition, each of the 45 initiatives here, whichever you choose, is something meaningful. How to become more productive, travel widely, become a global village citizen, and help others. We show you how to generate extra income for yourself, while supporting worthy causes, at the same time. Preserve your heritage, promote local arts and culture. There is something for pilots, sailors, and motorheads. While you may not identify with all the 45 initiatives, please give them some thought.

DOING SOMETHING WORTHWHILE

It's more than likely that several of the chapters will resonate with you: feeding the hungry, finding jobs, assisting and clothing the homeless, affordable healthcare, literature, sports, education and mentoring children. We focus on renewable energy, ecommerce, gardens, farms, saving our trees and helping bees. There is emphasis on helping homeless cats and dogs, speeding up pet adoption, protecting birds, relocating horses and donkeys into sanctuaries, liberating zoos and circus animals.

JUST REWARDS FOR ALL YOUR EFFORTS

Turning more towards creature comforts for humans, we treat ourselves with stays in homes away from home and go on luxury cruises. These cool trips cost money, but we empower you to generate significant income, with affiliate programs. Guiding you towards merchants that are known to keep it fair in revenue share. Social and business networking are actively encouraged, with quality meetups and events, around the world. By reading, and completing the chapters of this book, you will master The Art of Living Freely, and certainly be a worthy member of Club SYNERGY. We welcome you heartily!

FOREWORD

I'm blown away by this bold blueprint, and practical strategy to succeed, in my world. Helping me think outside the box and look at life differently. While I tread an independent path, it's good to know that I'm on the right track. All I need is a welcoming community to express my views, discuss new ideas, with proactive people. More importantly, the technical platform I need is already there. Local and virtual meetups for social and business networking. Interesting online courses and free workshops. A search engine optimized directory, to promote my own projects. My career prospects have significantly improved. Finding events and exhibitions that interest me, is now very convenient. I certainly appreciate all the group deals and discounts on quality products, and reliable services. My technology frustrations are now a thing of the past. I appreciate the courteous community, with no distracting spam, and does not insult me with unrealistic hype. I am relieved that this is not MLM. Finally, I found a way to help worthy causes, without having to donate money. Actually, they benefit more, as my own income increases. It's a win-win, and this book has certainly turned out to be a big winner for me. All this, without having to put up with intrusive advertising. There is a better way. I'm glad that I have discovered the revenue sharing business model. It's true, sharing is caring. Now that I understand the unique philosophy of Ubuntu Synergy, I know that I am, because we are. Together.

Chapter 1 – “I am, because we are. Together.”

Combining a pertinent philosophy of caring and sharing, with synergy and very strong community. We alter the course of humanity, and ultimately our destiny, by challenging the digital status quo.

The concept of Ubuntu originated in Africa several centuries ago. Basically a philosophy whereby individuals become who they are, as a result of interaction with others. The principles of Ubuntu revolve around dignity, respect, acceptance, responsibility, fairness, justice, morality, compassion, joy and love. Extrapolated into communality, group solidarity, forgiveness and reconciliation. An example of Ubuntu is how Nelson Mandela helped transform apartheid South Africa in a peaceful manner. After many years of discrimination and oppression, the majority of South Africans followed the path of Ubuntu and reconciliation. Electing to forgive, and move positively forward, with dignity.

Synergy is derived from the Latin word, synergia. Working together towards common objectives. Teamwork is another word for human synergy. When two persons or more, combine resources, complimentary skills, to achieve a satisfactory result. Unity is strength and more can be achieved when working together. People from all walks of life, different races, religions, politics and personal convictions, can overcome many obstacles, as long as they work together well. Ubuntu provides the necessary catalyst. The foundation of this book is Ubuntu Synergy. Two powerful words combined.

Ubuntu ~ I am, because we are. Bound together in ways that are invisible, humanity is all about being one. Caring unconditionally and sharing with everyone around us. Synergy ~ The combined power of a group of people when they work well together, is greater than the results achieved by everyone working separately. Our strength lies in unity. Combining a pertinent philosophy of caring and sharing, with synergy and very strong community. This book enables you to join forces with us.

We alter the course of humanity, and ultimately our destiny, by challenging the digital status quo. Expanding a global network of proactive people, who understand that we are largely dependent on each other. By fostering community and creating synergy, we combine all the efforts of many, and focus attention on various causes. Communicating courteously, meeting virtually and/or in person, learning how to improve ourselves, and the world around us. Curating a repository of resources and offering/finding meaningful employment. A job for life. Working local, thinking global, the mission is to generate residual revenue. Teaching to fish, rather than donate, we believe that charity begins at the cash register. Learn how to earn money, while helping worthy causes, by creating more synergy!

Chapter 2 – I'll be your guide and show the way

With 40+ years in technology, aviation and extensive travel, this digital entrepreneur has a wealth of experience to share. Helping others overcome failures and navigate a proven pathway to success.

Giving back is the ultimate way to receive. The more we share, the greater the return. My satisfaction comes from helping people find their financial way. By orchestrating millions of people to pull in the same general direction, we can make a difference in the lives of others. My mission is to work with positive, proactive people from all walks of life, anywhere in the world. Leading by example, with a comprehensive suite of initiatives, focused on humanitarian causes. Generating residual revenue is easy if you know how. With the philosophy of Ubuntu Synergy, and a concise worksheet, I show you EXACTLY how. A point-and-click program, step-by-step strategy, without any capital cost whatsoever.

I'm not a fan of the hype artists who sell "the secret to financial success" with great enthusiasm. That's exactly how they got rich, by selling you said "secret". Reminds me of the guy who said he ordered the book "How to scam the gullible and make easy money!" Six months later he was still waiting for his order to arrive. The reality is there are no shortcuts to financial freedom. You have to pay your dues, but that does not mean parting with any money. Yes, time is money, and that's what it will cost you.

Everything in this book can be absorbed and actioned for free. If you pay close attention, and make strategic use of the free trials, you will MAKE money. I would much prefer that you do NOT spend any of your own money. Treat it like a business, generate revenue, and grow exponentially. Building your online business, chapter by chapter. That said, not every initiative in this book may interest you, and that's OK. Focus on the topics that float your boat, pull on your heart strings, and work for you.

If you want to tackle all 45 initiatives, and make a life-changing commitment, then I will be happy to mentor you. Simply get started with the action list below, and you will figure out how to become a mentoree. Find your way to your personalized worksheet. No technical skills required, nothing to sell, and there is really no catch. I sincerely want you to benefit from my six decades of experience. This initiative is my opportunity to give back, and your time to shine. Our success is your success, and if you have what it takes to succeed, I'm with you all the way. Big oaks out of little acorns grow!

Chapter 4 – Gathering experience by travelling widely

Travelling the world, both online and off, ZaGenie gathers and collates information. Reviewing products and services, interesting places, and the means to get there. Come along for the ride!

ZaGenie is all about technology. ZaGenie Safari adds travel to the equation. If you spend any time on YouTube, there are thousands of channels that document travels. Couples sailing around the world on yachts, individuals crossing continents on bikes. The list goes on, the destinations endless, with dreams a plenty. Viewers of these channels are mostly dreamers. "There, for the lack of funds, go I". Also, there are the technophobes. "I could never do the videos and editing. I'm screwed – to my couch!"

Whatever your situation, ZaGenie Safari will broaden your horizons, in one way or another. We are going on a real voyage, figuring out everything as we go, and taking you with us. Virtually and/or in person, ZaGenie Safari is an opportunity to travel. Setting the example for others to start living the dream. Making memories, instead of ending up with wishes and regrets. Join with us, as we set sail into the sunset and beyond. Learning, sharing and growing as we go. It all starts with solid planning.

Our base of operations is Venice, Italy. There are two vessels on our planning sheet. A 150' explorer motor superyacht, and 62' sailing schooner. Both are currently in Türkiye, undergoing full refit and preparation. With comparable speeds, these vessels will form the ZaGenie Safari convoy. Starting in Venice, the first voyage is through the Adriatic Sea, following the Italian coast, with trips to Slovenia, Croatia, and Montenegro. Round the tip of Italy to Sicily, Sardinia and Corsica. Not without exploring Naples, Capri, Amalfi, Livorno, Elba and Genoa. There will also be side trips into the Italian interior.

The purpose of ZaGenie Safari is to share the joys of travel, sailing, navigation, and the technology from bow to stern. Internet connectivity by satellite, blogging and remote working. A contingent of ZaGenie Team will be on board, taking care of the vlogging, editing, uploading and sharing. The objective is to show you exactly how everything is done. Taking it a step further, we have guest cabins that need filling. We'll be inviting readers and members to join us. Either as a just reward and/or active member of ZaGenie Team. This opportunity is open to those who dare to dream big.

Travelling the world, both online and off, ZaGenie gathers and collates information. Reviewing products and services, interesting places, and the means to get there. Come along for the ride!

Chapter 5 – Realise that it's ~ Time To LIVE Your Life!

Everyone is entitled to a complete, happy life. If not content with your current circumstances, move, you are not a tree. Dissulto means to burst asunder, bounce, rise and fly. It's time to LIVE your life!

The preceding chapters set the scene. We have a core philosophy, someone to guide you, a means to harness technology, and a taste of Tuscany. Who would not like to explore the wonders of Italy? Easily done if money is no object, with the freedom to travel, and no everyday worries. Sadly, most people are so caught up in the complexities of existence, with no time to reach their full potential. Constrained by financial and/or mindset boundaries, the dreams are vivid, but there's no staircase to get there. This initiative is the ladder you seek. A guide to greatness, and wings on which to soar.

With self-confidence and determination, courage and conviction, you can carve out your destiny. Dissulto is the Latin word for bursting asunder, to fly. Whatever altitude you choose to reach, you must at least position yourself on the runway of success. Taking off and leaving the ground is going to be daunting. Forget the old adage "you must keep your feet on the ground" and reach for the sky!

This initiative gives you everything you need. The training, navigational aids and flight plan. All you need to do is show up and absorb, listen and learn. Figure out your course of action and persevere. Should you lose your way, there is a community to get you back on track. Make use of the suite of services at your disposal. Meet, greet, network and grow. Find your sweet spot in society. Sure, the world may not be quite ready for you. Nevertheless, assert yourself and simply say "I'll do it My Way!"

Today is the first day of the rest of your life. Start planting seeds by the minute. Every hour you spend ploughing now will give rise to a magnificent crop. Reap the rewards and do not look back. Become the butterfly in your own garden. Don't mind the nay-sayers, as they do not want you to succeed. Misery will always seek company. Rather infect them with your enthusiasm, inject more motivation, and determination to succeed. Embrace your inner self. It's Time to LIVE Your life!

Chapter 6 – Looking back, learning from our history

Looking back makes looking forward easier. Revive the good times and banish the bad. Analysing past events to identify our mistakes. Learning from history, and building a better future, together.

Dissulto is all about looking forward to your future. The purpose of Déjà Vu Days ~ is to look back. Our mistakes are what define us. Rather than washing away the bad memories we should embrace them. Like history, if we don't learn from it, we are destined to repeat events. This unique initiative strives to bring back history and build a database of AI fodder. This platform is readily available to voluntarily document our past experiences, both bad and good. Exposing our flaws and/or sharing personal moments is brave for sure, but there's gold in those historic hills. Let's prospect together.

This collaborative effort can only succeed if the database is populated with sincere entries. Genuine accounts of our challenges, disappointments, failures and success stories. Wrap that in with historic events and similar stories, we can crunch the data. Giving rise to visionary analytics and very useful reports. Making navigation into the future that much easier. With the perceived mystery of artificial intelligence up for debate, it may take some convincing. The true value of this initiative will manifest over time. Providing insights into struggling souls and successful strategies, as well as public service.

Build it and they will come. History is a passion for many, an obsession for some. Our intention is to build a website that is interesting and sticky. Generating website traffic that we can put to good use, and funnel to the worthy causes we support. We don't believe in, nor buy advertising. Hence, we have to think outside the box to get more incoming eyeballs. Turning curious clicks into cash flow.

On the surface, this initiative will be perceived as a "what happened on this day" website. That's just the tip of the proverbial iceberg, yet an important part of what goes on here. Below the digital waterline is where the bulk of the benefit will materialise. The speed of which depends on global participation. The willingness to pitch in and contribute cannot be coaxed forcibly. It depends on winning over the hearts and confidence of many. That's the goal, and we want to partner with you.

Looking back makes looking forward easier. Revive the good times and banish the bad. Analysing past events to identify our mistakes. Learning from history, and building a better future, together.

Chapter 7 – Living without geographical boundaries

Country borders are defined by governments. Personal opinions, fears and prejudices, are governed within ourselves. Physically and mentally, true freedom comes from living without any boundaries.

There are about 200 recognized countries in the world, and generally we have to live in one. Some are citizens of several, but essentially, we can only be in one place, at any given time. There are those who roam both physically and mentally. Personally, I became a PT (Perpetual Traveler) in 1986. No longer wishing to be controlled by a dystopian government, and forced to fight in military uniform, the urge to break free was strong. I packed a bag and went in search of self. My personal oyster.

Continually on the move, and side-stepping governmental bureaucracy wherever possible. Always staying on the right side of the local law, but certainly bending the rules to a yoga pose degree. The life of a non-conformist is not easy, and for some it leads to anarchy. The best policy is to be locally obedient, but mentally free. Peacefully pushing the limits of the law, and stretching the imagination to a point of personal peace. This initiative is for those who want to rise above the chaos around us.

Trying to change the political landscape and mindset of others is akin to herding cats. It's easier to control the weather than influence the happenings in any given country. Some, choosing to enter politics, become religious leaders, or dispense wisdoms from an armchair. Each to his/her own may be the obvious answer, but we live in the same society. Sharing just one planet, we should figure out where we fit in, and where we would rather not be. It's a complicated journey, if we want to be free.

Global Village Citizens are not born as such, they develop that mindset over a period of time. With a combination of travel and experience, becoming street smart, shaking off the barnacles of everyday life. Liberal thinking, mental fortitude, and rational behaviour are general character traits. Notably absent are arrogance, gullibility and stupidity. Nobody is perfect. This initiative is open to everyone. The policy here is simple, whereby oil and water don't mix well, and birds of a feather flock together.

What you will find here is a vibrant community of free-thinking individuals, who understand we are all together on this planet, but don't have to "live" within the lines drawn on a map. Preserving your individuality, comparing notes, and learning from one another. Elevating ourselves to another level, beyond the control of the idiots who try and impose a left/right path. Shaking off the shackles of authoritarianism, refusing to be herded like sheep, and lacking the inherent instinct of lemmings.

Country borders are defined by governments. Personal opinions, fears and prejudices, are governed within ourselves. Physically and mentally, true freedom comes from living without any boundaries.

Chapter 8 – Be able to travel ~ live ~ work, anywhere

Many are content with existing in just one place. Others are intrigued by what lies beyond the next horizon. Living on the edge, learning as they go. Relishing the ability to travel, live, work, anywhere.

Blessed are those who have never ventured from their place of birth. If you are happy where you live, and the horizon has no pulling power, what a great place to be. On the other hand, if your eyes are fixed on the distant hills, and the mind wanders to what lies beyond, another world awaits you. Literally, the landscape will be different, varying cultures and laws to abide by. We are changed by the places where we choose to go, not the other way around. A happy Digital Nomad is the one who fits in, or moves on. Drifting from place to place, exploring, absorbing and perhaps ~ settling down.

Uprooting can happen at any stage of life. Some start young, while others develop the urge later in life. Whatever the personal circumstance, there has never been a better time to be a Digital Nomad. Copper wires no longer connect desks permanently, travel can be instantly booked on a keyboard, with airports beckoning. Getting from one country to another, finding accommodation, working productively, are quite easily achieved, as long as we stay very close to the information highway.

Many countries around the world are waking up to the benefits of making digital nomads feel at home. Removing barriers to entry, granting long stay visas, and generally understanding that most nomads are not there to burden local society, but rather a monetary windfall. Tourists only stay for so long and eat limited ice cream. Digital nomads pay steady rent, integrate into local society, and spend more money. Also, the possibility of investment. It's not uncommon for nomads to construct homes away from home. Gone are the days when digital nomads were seen as glorified vagrants.

Digital Nomad is not just a label you get by simply going from A to B. It's an acquired skill. Like most things in life we learn best from others. This initiative collates many useful resources needed to be a functional digital nomad. Our community is the oasis where nomads meet, greet, interact and thrive. Like drawing water from a well, the information found here refreshes the soul, invigorates the mind. Getting involved here will help you plan and pack for the first, or next trip. We wish you Bon Voyage!

Many are content with existing in just one place. Others are motivated by what lies beyond the next horizon. Living on the edge, learning as they go. Relishing the ability to travel, live, work, anywhere.

Chapter 9 – Creating local humanitarian communities

Improving the lives of people living in underserved areas, by injecting new life into regional airports. Expertly implementing sustainable humanitarian initiatives, to invigorate local communities, globally.

This is a terrestrial effort to bring all our initiatives down to earth. Putting into practice everything we do and strive for. Making sense of it all and setting the example. Establishing a proof of concept, with tangible components, and positive results. Walking the talk and showing the way for others, like you. LevaldigITALY is the place where the proverbial rubber hits the road. The beginning of our journey.

Levaldigi is a small village in the north of Italy; approximately the epicentre of Europe. Essentially dead, there is very little there, except for some buildings and scattered agriculture. No bars, shops, nor restaurants. It's not a place to stop, but merely slow down and drive through. On the edge of town there is a large airport. Strangely placed, but essentially the reliever airport for Turin, and cannot be shut down. Another positive constant is a fibre optic line running through the village.

The basics are there, but certainly no conventional possibilities for investment. It requires some really far-fetched thinking and vivid imagination to alter the destiny of Levaldigi, Italy. Fortunately, that's exactly the kind of challenge we relish. Game on. Challenge accepted and the wheels are in motion. There are buildings and land to be acquired, permits to seek, and local fears to overcome.

Essentially, what LevaldiITALY intends to do is inject life into an underserved community. This will be achieved by utilizing the airport, surrounds, and tremendous touristic appeal. The Italian Alps loom large, and the vineyards of Langhe dripping with juicy grapes. We hear these make good wine. Thanks to the already installed fibre optic line, Levaldigi lies squarely on the Information Highway.

We envisage a reinvigorated village, with digital nomads from all corners of the globe, lending their skills and working the various initiatives. Compounds for homeless cats and dogs, safe sanctuary for horses and donkeys, recovery pens for zoo and circus animals. Learning to fly at the airport, staffing the community clinic, and harvesting fresh farm produce. Take any chapter in this book and place it in LevaldiITALY. This a noble vision indeed, and the way for it to become reality ~ is doing it together!

Chapter 10 – Preserving our past, heritage and culture

Our heritage is what defines us. No matter where in the world you live, the local culture is a thread in the global tapestry of history, art, academia. Everyone can help take (y)our past, into the future.

Every person has a heritage. We all come from somewhere, with distinct regional cultures, and local traditions. The roots of family trees are tightly intertwined, and every limb of life branching in a new direction. Our ancestors kept track of everything and it behoves us to do likewise. If we don't know where we came from, we cannot figure out where we are going. A future without heritage has less intrinsic value. Every generation tends to diminish the richness, albeit unintentionally. What to do?

This initiative provides a dynamic platform for anyone, anywhere, to help with the preservation of (y)our heritage. It is the brainchild of Carolina Reviglio della Veneria. We were unable to improve on the model of ArtAcadia.org ~ so we simply incorporated it. Not needing to reinvent the wheel, all we have to do is make it spin faster. Reaching out to people with similar concerns. Creating synergy and doing something about it. The world around us is falling apart. Not only modern infrastructure, but also our historic buildings, national landmarks, and irreplaceable treasures. Our heritage is dying.

To make matters far worse, artisans are disappearing too, and with them all the required skills. Continuation of the traditional apprenticeship is increasingly rare. Writing down the methods to restore buildings, maintain works of art, is not the answer. We must find and encourage the youth and concerned parties to save their own future, literally. Historic books, traditional recipes, ancient objects, the list is long. We cannot let the essential artifacts of our collective past simply fade away.

Join with Carolina and her capable team of Heritage Ambassadors ~ taking our past into the future. This is not a charitable initiative. Money is the prime ingredient to save our heritage, and that is why we need to generate residual revenue. Think global, work local and earn extra money for promoting arts and culture. Reach out to local organisations, academia and the youth. Help get people involved and part of the solution, not the cause of decay. Educate, motivate, and promote your local heritage.

Our heritage is what defines us. No matter where in the world you live, the local culture is a thread in the global tapestry of history, art, academia. Everyone can help take (y)our past, into the future.

Chapter 11 – Avoid busy airport check-ins and fly privately

In a world gone awry, and aerial transportation more difficult, private planes are the way to travel. Avoid the complications of airports. Set your own travel agenda. Enjoy the freedom of the skies.

Since the dawn of powered flight, we are dependent on airplanes, everywhere. Flying passengers there and back, moving cargo in between. Wings, rotors and rockets keep the global economies moving forward. We are totally dependent on the aviation industry, regardless of noise, carbon footprints and sprawling city airports. Take away the plane and there will be much financial pain.

People, people, everywhere, not a seat in sight. There were just five people watching the first powered flight in 1903. Fast forward and count the people around you in the airport lounges of today. Throw in a pandemic or two and travelling can be quite a nightmare. What to do? The best option is to trade in your crowded boarding pass for a more sedate flying experience. Transit to the other side of the airport and look for a sign that says, "General Aviation". Take a seat in a leather chair!

Loud cries of elitism and privilege will ensue, but these voices come from the jealously uninformed. General aviation is where it all begins. Airline pilots have to start by flying private planes. They don't just hop into the front seat of an Airbus and guess the buttons. Their training started, a lot of money ago, with private pilot lessons at small municipal airports. The aviation industry is a huge commercial complex of passionate individuals, training facilities, creative companies and government airlines.

Affecting the lives of everyone on this planet, aviation is part of our economic diet, and it will be so for a long time to come. Aviation Synergy is committed to helping it grow, with a comprehensive suite of services and proactive approach. Funding flight training through KIDSynergy, turning pilot license dreams into reality, and helping initiatives such as Wings4paws. Where there are passionate people wanting to reach for the sky, Aviation Synergy intends to lead the way. Come aviate with us!

In a world gone awry, and aerial transportation more difficult, private planes are the way to travel. Avoid the complications of airports. Set your own travel agenda. Enjoy the freedom of the skies.

Chapter 12 – Leave the shore, sail away, and live off the grid

In this maddening world, there are fewer places of tranquillity. Leave the shore and live off the grid. Enjoy some floating luxury, on private yachts. Go anywhere. Experience the freedom of the seas.

There is more than meets the eye when looking at luxury yachts. Beyond the perception of a rich owner with champagne in crystal glasses, is a mega manufacturing industry, employing millions of people. Innovative technology, renewable energy, marine conservation and tourism are on the plus side of the equation, easily cancelling out perceived negatives. Truth be told, few are the readers here who would not like to lounge a sunbed, and relish in some of that decadent champagne.

This initiative is not a glossy catalogue of charter yachts, but rather a comprehensive suite of services for everyone interested in the yachting industry. Anything from a small sailing ketch to superyachts. From individuals to the corporations, and everyone in between. It is all about what makes this industry thrive and ways to keep it so. Using the revenue share business model and the other initiatives to pump more money in and out. Increasing employment is but one of the ways to improve lives around the world. While the continents are many miles apart, the oceans connect us!

Furthering to alleviate the negative perceptions of decadent wealth, we integrate many of our initiatives with Yachting Synergy. Great floating destinations for NOMADSynergy, vacancies in JOBSynergy, teaching KIDSynergy children how to sail, and involvement with RESOURCESynergy. There are a multitude of ways for the yachting industry to have a major influence in the lives of Mr. & Mrs. Average, who do not own their luxury yacht, just yet. If you can dream it, you can achieve it.

More by design than serendipity, Yachting Synergy is a popular part of our plan, especially when it comes to incentivizing our affiliates. Few are those in number who would not like to set sail on their luxury yacht. Entirely possible, if money is no object; and that is what the revenue sharing business model is all about. Unlimited residual income, without having to sweat hard at the coal face, only when awake. It's unlikely that the owners sipping champagne, on yachts you so admire, work for someone else. Time to be your own boss? That's up to you and there is an initiative for that too!

In this maddening world, there are fewer places of tranquillity. Leave the shore and live off the grid. Enjoy some floating luxury, on private yachts. Go anywhere. Experience the freedom of the seas.

A long way from the horse and cart, destinations are now further apart. With many ways to get around, the choices are daunting. Explore and analyse the options for smarter transportation.

Since the invention of the first wheel, we have used them to move ourselves around, with vehicles coming in all shapes and sizes. That trend is really picking up now, as new technologies streamline everything, from scooters to hyperloop. Ever lighter, faster and more efficient, the future is quite obviously electric. That said, it's going to take a while to flush the petrol out of heads. The nostalgia of throbbing V8 engines is like ripping a pacifier from a baby. It is going to take time before we all commute by hoverboard alone. This initiative had better embrace everything and adapt accordingly!

Vehicle Synergy is all about transport, past, present and future. Understanding the road we have come and shining sharp headlights on the way forward. Catering for enthusiasts, drivers, dreamers and climate activists too. The planet is for everyone, and common courtesy has a big load to carry here. Not everyone's idea of fun is a deep 4x4 track on a pristine beach. Vehicles are like politics, whereby everyone has a different viewpoint, opinion, and plan to fix it. What can possibly go wrong?

Vehicles are partially responsible for all the planet's problems, regional conflicts and occasional wars. Just like the dinosaur that powered the Flintstone car, we are still reliant on fossil fuels. That's not going to change anytime soon, but we had better start now. This initiative provides a full suite of resources for us to tackle the issues around vehicles, and better ways to build and use our favourite form of fetching this and that, getting from A to B, without going back to swinging from tree to tree.

Thinking now and well ahead there is a need for vehicles in just about all of our initiatives. Examples are distributing books for BOOKSynergy, clothes for CLOTHESynergy, felines for PAWSecondChance, and literally meals-on-wheels for MEALSynergy. Vehicles are a common denominator, and we have to give them some love. No doubt there is money in there somewhere, so the revenue share business model comes in handy. Helping industry players, individuals, and all entities with an interest in vehicles!

Chapter 14 – Vehicles that can fly, float, drive on roads and snow

Imagine a machine that can fly, float on water, and drive like a car. It's also a snowmobile. Take off from a short runway, alight on a lake. Ride on roads and ski on snow. Really? We're working on it!

There are initiatives in our sphere, namely Aviation Synergy, Yachting Synergy and Vehicle Synergy, which focus on those industries. These are primary passions of the author and give rise to thoughts of the perfect mode of transport. An aircraft-vessel-vehicle that transcends all three. These pricey industries are perceived as playgrounds for the idle rich. Made worse by celebrity entrepreneurs sending egos, via rockets into space, under the guise of human progress. Let's fix THIS planet first!

This initiative is nothing of the sort. That does not mean we are not visionaries and dreamers. An idea has to start somewhere to become reality. We have sensible, practical ideas for humanity to keep moving forward, on this planet. We would rather spend money on mechanical things that do worthwhile tasks, than blowing big bucks on a jolly jaunt to Jupiter. There's enough to do right here!

How about a flying vehicle that can land vertically next to animal shelters, load up crates and move them to no-kill shelters? Land on a lake to stock fish hatchlings; patrol ski slopes and fly the injured to hospital; drive around town to collect parcels, take off and land in the next city, drive and deliver. There are many applications, the technology is there, all that's required is money. A lot less than super-duper rockets and easily generated with the revenue share business model. We can build it!

Such versatile vehicles are not fantasy. There are already dozens of VTOL aircraft, amphibians, flying cars, and snowcopters in various stages of production. However, there is not yet one that copes with ALL the four primary places to navigate; Sky~Sea~Road~Snow. That's what this initiative is all about. SSRS will be a carbon composite amphibian SUV with retractable wings, VTOL electric rotors, and twin turbines providing forward flight. Seating for 2 crew + 10 passengers and/or flexible cargo configuration. A polyvalent platform and magic machine to serve humanity today and tomorrow!

Imagine a machine that can fly, float on water, and drive like a car. It's also a snowmobile. Take off from a short runway, alight on a lake. Ride on roads and ski on snow. Really? We're working on it!

Chapter 15 – Support worthwhile causes without giving donations

Charity begins at the cash register. Helping various causes by creating unity with community, motivating affiliates to generate revenue, and facilitating events. Work local and think global.

The traditional way of supporting causes and charities is through donations, grants and subsidies. Times change and so has the attitude of donors. Misappropriation and blatant abuse of funds has greatly reduced monetary sources. In addition, people are suffering harsh economic pressures, and don't have funds to spare. We are in a cycle of money drought and increasing despair. What to do?

The revenue share business model lends itself well to the plight of worthy causes around the world. Using the Internet and a global affiliate force of people willing to help, without giving donations. We can generate residual revenue for everyone concerned. In other words, teaching how to fish, rather than giving charitable handouts. Charity begins at the cash register. There is now a way to do that.

CAUSESynergy is a sophisticated system, yet simple strategy for anyone, anywhere, to spread the word about various causes, and be monetarily rewarded for their efforts. The caused that are being helped, can be active participants too, assuming they have the willingness and vision. We extend this opportunity to any cause that wants to untether themselves from the leash held by cautious donors. Enabling organizations to take charge of their own funding sources and focus on the work at hand.

We encourage everyone to explore this innovative strategy and proactive approach to funding. Utilize the suite of services and solid platform available to anyone who cares. Experience all the initiatives we have already created, not only as a proof of concept, but doing a lot of good in the process. By revolutionizing the way humanitarian causes meet their funding needs, the work accomplished is magnified, making the world a better place. CAUSESynergy is here to help you!

Chapter 16 – Ensuring that everyone enjoys daily nourishing meals

Going to bed without food, is not on the menu. Waking up to no breakfast, is not palatable. Nobody should stomach hunger. Be part of a global initiative, to make sure everyone gets to eat, regularly.

Feast or famine, food favours the hungry. While that seems to be a paradox, consider these facts. There have never been so many people suffering from malnutrition and hunger in the long history of humankind. At the same time, the number of people classified as obese, is even higher. According to the World Health Organization, that seesaw statistic is about 2 billion. A quarter of humanity, either going to bed at night without a meal, or eating very badly. This dietary dilemma leaves a bad taste!

Simply dishing out millions of meals and spewing sage eating advice is not going to make much of a difference. We have to rustle up a realistic recipe and concoct a successful stew. This initiative straps on a global apron and steps into a worldwide soup kitchen. Creating synergy between everyone and anything to do with food. From source to destination, the whole supply chain is affected by many factors. We pitch in, least of all with education, and of course lots of money. These two ingredients are the key flavours of our revenue sharing recipe. Banging on loud pots and pans also features in our spicy plan. Making loud noise, raising awareness and following up with concrete actions.

Educating individuals, families, restaurants, shops, supermarkets, and everywhere food is found, how to redistribute excess food. Funding the mechanisms and setting up the channels to ensure it gets to its destination. Think Aviation Synergy. Creating entire companies if need be. Roping in other initiatives like GARDENSynergy, FARMSynergy, KIDSynergy and RESOURCESynergy. Building teams and capable workforce through JOBSynergy, involving proactive people in every industry imaginable, and doing our best to close that 2 billion gap. Propelled by the hungry, ambitious and determined.

MEALSynergy is setting the table for a completely different dining experience when it comes to solving the global food crisis. We don't believe in donations, but rather that charity begins at the cash register. Existing methods to solve the hunger problem have not worked, and probably never will. If we change the way we look at things, then the things we look at, will change. Bon Appetite!

Going to bed without food, is not on the menu. Waking up to no breakfast, is not palatable. Nobody should stomach hunger. Be part of a global initiative, to make sure everyone gets to eat, regularly.

Chapter 17 – Find meaningful employment and career advancement

Searching for employment is a mission. Making money while looking can be rewarding, using innovative ways to distribute your curriculum vitae. Boost your career, while helping others too.

The world of work is like a giant puzzle. Broadly spread onto the table, empty spaces waiting for the right pieces to fit. A constant concentration of trial and error, rejection, and the occasional snap into your happy place. The problem today is that there are more pieces than open spaces. The puzzling situation sucks. Indeed, LinkedIn lurkers, desperate job seekers trying to piece their lives together.

Everyone focuses on looking in the same place for vacancies. Placed there by companies who chum the water, with only one hook to bite on. Fishing out just one good candidate, and the rest are left thrashing in the sea of despair. The jobs just aren't there. Candidates really need to stand out taller. Employers can pick and choose. Sadly, they very rarely treat the rest with respect, and leave them hanging. That is something we strive to rectify. Good manners maketh the empathetic employer.

JOBsynergy offers many alternatives to the scores of unemployed hopefuls. Not just another work vacancy showcase, but rather innovative ways to distribute curriculum vitae, and make some money in the process. Employing the revenue sharing business model, we show applicants that there are many more ways to earn money. Just focusing on getting a job, continues the trend of being Just Over Broke. Our hope is that this initiative shines a light on your personal worth, and helps you invest your time in YOURSELF. While this initiative may help you find a good job, it offers much more!

Not everyone can, or wants to work for themselves, and we respect that. JOBsynergy covers the entire employment spectrum. Helping those who are happy to have a secure, solid job and regular paychecks. Showing you how to polish your career path like intense curling players. This initiative is also the perfect platform to create your own destiny. Either way, the goal is to make a decent living!

Searching for employment is a mission. Making money while looking can be rewarding, using innovative ways to distribute your curriculum vitae. Boost your career, while helping others too.

Chapter 18 – Provide shelter for the homeless and help build homes

Be it cave or palace, we all need a home. Whether we build, buy, rent, or squat, a roof overhead certainly means a lot. The choice is ours, where we wish to live. For some, we may have to give.

Homeless is defined as an individual or family that lacks a fixed abode. It used to be a fairly minor problem but not anymore. Taking a stroll in metropolitan areas around the world reveals that it's fast becoming the norm. Shop doorways are bedrooms by night, underpasses offer refuge during the day, and public parks look like campgrounds. Wandering souls pushing shopping carts full of personal belongings. That's the state of our society, despite the promises and culture of capitalism.

HOMESynergy brings together proactive people, companies, and organizations around the world, to the biggest community intervention imaginable. Most homeless people are an integral part of a local community, and that's where the crisis needs to be addressed and solved. What this initiative does is create synergy between all those communities, empowering them with ideas and mechanisms to generate revenue. At the end of the homeless day, money is the primary driver for positive change.

We use the revenue sharing business model to revolutionize how local city councils allocate housing, collect rent, and expand neighbourhoods. Working with forward thinking construction companies to empower the homeless folks themselves, to get a roof over their own heads. Everyone with a vested interest in local development can get involved. Caring community members, businesses, schools and universities. Homelessness is a local problem and cannot be exported. HOMESynergy imports hope!

This initiative lends itself well to working with RESOURCESynergy, MEALSynergy, JOBSynergy and CLOTHESynergy. A big player in the game is Heritage Synergy. There are many abandoned and dilapidated historic buildings that are just crying out for attention. Putting back life into existing structures, and pride back in the hearts of the homeless. Residual revenue, innovative ideas, and massive collective effort is all that is needed to make accommodating changes to our society.

Be it cave or palace, we all need a home. Whether we build, buy, rent, or squat, a roof overhead certainly means a lot. The choice is ours, where we wish to live. For some, we may have to give.

Chapter 19 – Distribute warm clothes and shoes to the less fortunate

Since humans have walked upright, we need clothes. To survive climate, social and business life, depends on how we dress. Learn to dress for success, and pass items on to those less fortunate.

Pretty dresses and fine suits come with multiple price tags. Once at the cash register, and then at the cost of health in poverty-stricken lands. The garment industry has deep undercurrents in our society. Designer labels look cool on the boulevards of Paris, far removed from the realities of cheap labour. This initiative threads a fine needle and helps bring into view the error of our fashion ways.

This is not the Greenpeace of garments. We are not attempting to expose nor enforce anything. Our mission is to create synergy, awareness, and some woven wokeness. Make people think, galvanize them into action, and let the industry ship right itself. A sort of self-cleansing bilge tank that will get rid of the toxins, without polluting the sea. Some will say not to throw the baby clothes out with the washing machine. Sadly, it's not a laughing matter. Clothes are cool for some but can kill as well.

It's not all doom and gloom. Taking a positive tangent, we also make clothes move in the direction of the less fortunate. The cotton addicts store seldom worn clothes in deep drawers and we encourage them out of there. Warming the hearts of people who do not have money for a winter coat. One man's surplus socks are another's frostbite fenders. Getting people to distribute their unwanted clothing is a big part of what we do. Including companies with a wealth of damaged goods to give.

Where there is a homeless person, there is usually a need for clothes. This initiative works hand in hand with HOMESynergy, MEALSynergy, and the caring children of KIDSynergy. Everyone working in harmony to clothe, feed and house. Clothes play an important part in restoring dignity. That includes generating residual revenue for the wearer, and everyone else with a vest and interest. Clothes are convenient billboards. We replace corny slogans with meaningful messages and QR codes. Just one of the myriad of ways we can thread and spread the word. CLOTHESynergy is all dressed up for you!

Since humans have walked upright, we need clothes. To survive climate, social and business life, depends on how we dress. Learn to dress for success, and pass items on to those less fortunate.

Chapter 20 – Basic healthcare services for underserved communities

Basic healthcare should be afforded to all. No matter where you live, nor what you earn, good health is priceless. Communities should be empowered to prevent pandemics and cure common diseases.

CLINICSynergy came into existence during a global pandemic. Highlighting the vulnerability and basic needs of remote and underserved communities, it became evident that good healthcare services are not ubiquitous. Not everyone has easy access to testing and elementary care. This initiative fills the gap between the cough zone and hospital wards. Where intervention is required, but not necessarily needing intensive care. A neglected void that local authorities do not have the funds to fill, and where it's not profitable for Big Pharma to play. In fact, these are the culprits that dump expired testing kits and medicines into said vacuum. Unscrupulous charity is a deadly remedy!

CLINICSynergy creates synergy between everyone with an interest in healthcare. Individuals, nurses, doctors, organizations, companies and all related entities. It is not a charity and generating revenue is certainly part of the plan. We step in where local authorities and governments are cash strapped. Funding projects which help humanity, wherever practical and possible. This does not mean brain surgery, but rather helping with civil emergencies, treating blisters at sports events, and carrying clean water into earthquake disaster areas. A step above traditional volunteering, donations and handouts. Cash is king and makes things move faster. CLINICSynergy generates residual revenue!

The intent of this unique initiative is certainly NOT to replace, nor compete with existing services. Quite the contrary, we strive to augment healthcare wherever possible, fit in seamlessly and make positive community contributions. We hope to demonstrate how the revenue share business model can motivate individuals and help medical companies with the bottom line. A refreshingly different approach and paradigm shift. Everyone is welcome to join with us and pull in this innovative direction!

Basic healthcare should be afforded to all. No matter where you live, nor what you earn, good health is priceless. Communities should be empowered to prevent pandemics and cure common diseases.

Chapter 21 – Recycle and distribute reading materials for eager eyes

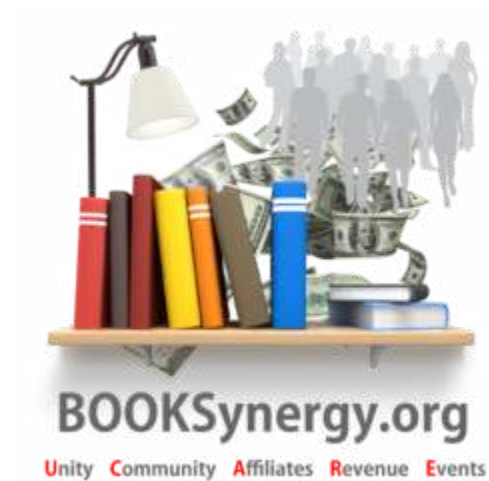

The power of the pen and written word spells knowledge. With easy access to quality reading materials, anyone can better themselves, and gain financially. Help others by passing on books.

Despite the Internet revolution and proliferation of digital devices, books will always reign supreme. The smell of printed paper, enclosed in vivid glossy covers, and placed on welcoming wooden bookshelves. Sadly, at the cost of trees, but there is a price to pay for literature heritage. Entire forests have been transformed into libraries, but there is no other way. Of course, books can now be easily consumed digitally. Much in the same way a CD is more practical, music on vinyl is what print is to paper. Classic books on a sophisticated coffee table, also look better than piles of plastic covers.

BOOKSynergy is all about books, in any shape or form. The task at hand is to preserve, promote, publish and distribute. Getting books into the hands of keen readers, who do not necessarily have ready access to libraries and/or the Internet. Remote communities, disadvantaged individuals, and reluctant children, could all do with a good book. Replacing gaming consoles, with vibrant volumes visualizing history, is not an easy task. Nevertheless, if we don't follow a path of gentle persuasion, the alternative is to let print fade away. Not on our watch. BOOKSynergy keeps the pages turning!

It's not too difficult to find book lovers around the world. We create synergy between enthusiastic individuals, libraries, schools, universities and companies who have a vested interest in keeping the print industry alive. Fostering community and providing many resources with which to discuss ideas, educate and innovate. Putting systems in place to keep books circulating, illuminating and inspiring. BOOKSynergy cross-pollinates easily with KIDSynergy, STUDENTSynergy and COMMERCEsynergy.

Money is the key to success of any project, and this initiative generates residual revenue. Sharing that with willing affiliates, who are the driving force behind BOOKSynergy. Can we count on you?

The power of the pen and written word spells knowledge. With easy access to quality reading materials, anyone can better themselves, and gain financially. Help others by passing on books.

Chapter 22 – Innovative ways to urge people to participate in sports

On the field or from the couch, everyone loves sports. Weekend golfers to professional athletes, active participation benefits body and mind. Finding innovative ways to get more people involved.

Sport is a common denominator that transcends borders, cultures, religions, and politics. People from all walks of life, on both sides of the breadline, can easily play in the same sports team. Global competition breaks all language barriers as a soccer ball does not need to understand anything. Not even wars can suppress sport. Prisoners of wars have played against their captors. Such is the reach of sports, both in the hearts of fans and on the playing field, it is second only to oxygen for many.

SPORTSynergy is a wide-open initiative with a multitude of facets to exploit. Money plays a crucial role in sports, from parents funding a pair of school rugby boots, to professional football players who make more money than a small country's GDP. There is so much money concentrated in the top tiers of the game, that average players are often left begging. That is what we intend to change. Helping the less fortunate fund their sporting fun by generating residual revenue. That's our game!

Starting with schools, it's a common practice for parents and pupils to raise funds to send school teams on tour. Maybe the local car dealership will help, in return for cheesy commercial messages emblazoned on jerseys. Amateur sportsmen and women often resort to selling their souls to dodgy detergents and tacky toothpaste. There's little wiggle room for sincerity in our over-commercialized society. Fortunately, we can readily identify the cracks and fill them financially with SPORTSynergy.

Little or large, we can play in all the leagues. We readily help the sporting giants understand the revenue sharing business model. Stadiums need filling, and when tickets do not get snapped up following eager demand, we know a thing or two about effective incentivizing. Thinking outside the arena and get sparse supporters to spread the word. Bringing new meaning to the word "supporter".

The possibilities are endless, from secondary school minor league boards to the mega sports team boardrooms. We can really spread our sporting bets with this initiative. Let's take a good swing and blast it out of the park. With everyone scrumming together hard, and rowing strongly in unison, we can level playing fields for everyone. Ready to step up to the plate? SPORTSynergy is just the ticket!

On the field or from the couch, everyone loves sports. Weekend golfers to professional athletes, active participation benefits body and mind. Finding innovative ways to get more people involved.

We borrow the future from our children. Leaving them a lasting legacy is our joint responsibility. Secure their tomorrow, by mentoring younger generations, to adopt the ethics of ubuntu synergy.

Every initiative in our sphere offers a specific opportunity for scholars. Ways to make pocket money, while doing good at the same time. KIDSynergy raises that bar significantly higher, broadening the horizons of our youngsters. This is the place for parents and children to get actively involved, delving deeper into the depths of Ubuntu Synergy, and applying it to their everyday lives. Future generations are best built on a proactive parental platform and strong social values. Money does not affect morals!

Most children are introduced to the market economy, when parents offer pocket money, in return for doing chores around the house. In other words, doing some good, for just reward. Expanding beyond the garden gate, enterprising kids used to cycle newspaper rounds in the neighbourhood. Delivering daily news in return for a cut of the newspaper sales revenue. Our society has evolved whereby many parents do not have enough money to meet utility bills, let alone fund little Larry's locomotive set, nor daughter Deborah's Barbie doll. Financial difficulty is the mother of invention!

KIDSynergy takes the same principle of pocket money and improves on it. The house of chores becomes a world of ways for kids to help others. The bicycle of the newspaper round is parked, in favour of an affiliate program. Boys and girls can get involved in all our initiatives, spread the word, and make their own pocket money. No need to cycle into neighbourhood traffic, as the information highway is wide open, using the electronic devices that the youth drive so well. Kids are already set!

More importantly, all of this can be done quite safely from home, under the subtle supervision of proud parents. Bringing relief to the breadwinning pockets, while at the same time getting kids to contribute to the family income. What a wonderful way to teach offspring the financial ways of the world. No money, no honey. Get on your byte bicycle and pedal money into your own teenage wallet!

It's not all about money though. KIDSynergy also addresses the many issues surrounding children. Helping schools, orphanages and hospices. Many worthy causes that are also the virtual chores for children to support. Creating synergy and a monetary cycle whereby children themselves, build a better future. Just because the older generations have made a mess of this planet, does not mean that kids don't deserve a chance to fix it. KIDSynergy is a fertile breeding ground for all our initiatives!

We borrow the future from our children. Leaving them a lasting legacy is our joint responsibility. Secure their tomorrow, by mentoring younger generations, to adopt the ethics of ubuntu synergy.

While a good education is essential, a degree does not guarantee employment. There is work to do, literally. Helping students find meaningful work, and easily earning residual income, in the process.

Education is a primary cog in the engine of society. Passing on knowledge is not only essential, it's what defines the direction of civilization. Students take the baton of learning and carry it forward. Building on what they have studied, adding a personal perspective, and actual experience, before passing it on to future generations. Without quality education, there will be no human progress.

That said, there is something fundamentally wrong with the education system. Like pumping oil from a well, without tankers and reservoirs to hold it, there's a global glut of qualified students with no place to go, unable to grow. Students are in the proverbial wilderness. The backlog for salaried happiness, is further hampered by worsening unemployment, declining economies and, truth be told, unwillingness to do menial labour. It's all about making big bucks, without necessarily getting their hands dirty. Sooner or later reality must set in, and all alternatives be considered.

STUDENTSynergy is a platform that offers a variety of possibilities. Firstly, it helps students generate revenue, while trying to find meaningful employment. With innovative ways to get résumés into the hands of prospective employers, reaching a wider audience, without having to rely on the traditional outlets. LinkedIn is now just a digital meat market for desperate job seekers, Indeed. Pun intended. There must be a better way. Sharply educated minds are ready to carve new ways into the future.

Our initiatives cover a wide range of subjects. Undoubtedly, there is something of interest for just about everyone, and most likely opportunities for newcomers to several industries. Each of the initiatives includes an option for students to make money. Hard cash with which to settle student loans, which are now being called in by financial institutions. They were quite happy to lend you an umbrella, but when it starts raining, they want it back. Shake off the shackles of debt and live freely.

We welcome students around the world to come in from the financial cold, revitalize your dreams, and find a future through STUDENTSynergy. Be it just a steppingstone to that dream job, or perhaps a permanent position with yourself. Taking charge of your own life, using your studies in a real world of possibilities, not waiting for a boardroom to dictate your destiny. Education for a new generation!

While a good education is essential, a degree does not guarantee employment. There is work to do, literally. Helping students find meaningful work, and easily earning residual income, in the process.

Everything we need to survive, is all around us. From earth to sun, wind and water, renewable energy is there to harvest. All we need do, is learn how to harness the power of nature, ethically.

Global warming is just two words but represent a plethora of related subjects. Wrapping all these into the folds of this cool initiative, RESOURCESynergy strives for solar serendipity, fossil fuel failure, water and wind wokeness. Not to mention clearing the air, and making people realize there is no Planet B. Things are really heating up exponentially, and we had better stop fanning the flames.

It does not mean that we have to run off into the mountains, build huts with sheets of plastic, and burn blocks of peat for heating. The answer is to use technology resourcefully, be creatively smart, and help educate the sweating masses. Everything we need to survive successfully is already there, and/or some gentle persuasion away. We must adapt or fry; a gentler word than die, literally.

Forging positively ahead, our mission is to create a concerned community, stimulate lively debate, and invite everyone to be part of the solution, not the problem. Providing resources for anyone to use, facilitate collaboration, and encourage unselfish contributions. We are all in this boat together!

RESOURCESynergy is an entity all on its own, but with close ties to practically every other initiative in our sphere. Just one example is how PAWSynergy builds infrastructure for our animal shelters, using green technology and renewable resources. We practice what we preach and that's a fundamental part of our modus operandi. Everything we do follows a common thread and is tightly intertwined.

Roping in as many people as we can possibly persuade to be resource aware with us, we feel that this initiative is not an option, it's mandatory. If future generations are going to keep their heads above hot water, and be able to sit under trees, then it's wise to contemplate RESOURCESynergy.

Everything we need to survive, is all around us. From earth to sun, wind and water, renewable energy is there to harvest. All we need do, is learn how to harness the power of nature, ethically.

Chapter 26 – Unique e-commerce tools and marketing strategies

Our lives are digitally determined. Online commerce the accepted norm, using the InterWeb for shopping and supply chains. Exploring innovative ways to bring cyberspace back down to earth.

Everything we do is very much FOR profit. Charity begins at the cash register. Each of our initiatives includes a MarketPlace for that niche. Offering merchandise, deals and discounts for the members involved. COMMERCEsynergy throws open the proverbial doors to every industry sector imaginable. The revenue sharing business model lends itself well to all products and services. Affiliate marketing and pay-for-performance sales channels are common with most household brands. Think Amazon!

Our primary objective is to help merchants understand and implement online affiliate programs. Explaining better ways to drive more sales and educating companies on how best to treat their affiliates. While affiliate marketing is well into three decades old, there is still some resistance to more efficient revenue streams. Some companies don't know what they don't know, and it is our goal to change that. The ulterior motive is that it gives us the opportunity to identify and funnel quality affiliate programs into our initiatives. Picking and choosing our way to higher revenues.

COMMERCEsynergy encourages everyone to create synergy between companies and consumers around the world. Making a full suite of resources available to anyone wanting to explore the world of affiliate marketing. Leading by example and hoping that others see the light. Sometimes it takes time to change the mindsets of stoic boardrooms, and get sceptical stakeholders to look at things differently. By creating a transparent showcase of successful affiliate programs here, the pennies may drop sooner. It's only a matter of time before they realize that affiliates make a lot of cents.

The intent of this initiative is also to become an online digital shopping mall. As we increase the number of affiliate programs in the directory, therewith a centralized catalogue for consumers to locate a variety of quality products and services, offered through affiliate programs. Word of mouth is always the best way to sell something, and if the happy consumer is also an affiliate, more sales will surely follow. Not propelled by fake reviews and misleading advertising, but rather by genuine people, who have bought the products themselves. The secret to a successful affiliate program is sincerity and honesty. COMMERCEsynergy is an innovative, rewarding and profitable place to shop!

Our lives are digitally determined. Online commerce the accepted norm, using the InterWeb for shopping and supply chains. Exploring innovative ways to bring cyberspace back down to earth.

Chapter 27 – Emphasize the importance and potential of gardens

Seeds, soil, water and sunshine, are needed to make things grow. With thoughtful planting, sensible harvesting, we can live off the land. Giving vegetables, flowers and fruit, every garden is a blessing.

Gardens have come a very long way since Adam & Eve. Becoming an art form in the 16th century, gardening is the extension of the characters and personalities of the people that potter in them. No one garden is ever the same and continually changes with every season. Concentrating the time and efforts of millions of avid gardeners around the world, they are microcosms of money. It's a huge industry. Where there is money, there are always opportunities for the revenue sharing industry.

GARDENSynergy plants ideas as to how we can indirectly cultivate cash and prune profits from gardens. Many readers here have gardens, yet do not understand that there is hidden wealth underfoot. Our mission is to bring those benefits into view and get gardens producing more than just carrots and roses. A prominent part of the plan is to create gardens where none were before.

Every spare square metre should be planted with something useful. Reducing the need to buy from supermarkets, families can return to their hunter-gatherer roots. Awareness and education are just as important as fertilizer and irrigation. Nothing grows without planning, effort, and dedication. Of course, it starts with seeds, space, motivation, and money. We show participants of this initiative to find all of the above. Creating synergy and resources for people around the world to compare notes.

GARDENSynergy lends itself well for cross-pollination with many of our initiatives. It is a productive partner for MEALSynergy and works well with FARMSynergy. BEESynergy fits right in, and the youth of KIDSynergy are ready for a healthy hobby. Instilling food independence at an early age to make things easier for future generations. We should be able to walk out front and back, and forage for food planted by ourselves. Help break the bonds of food Tsars and put an end to modern day serfdom!

Anyone, anywhere around the world, can make a difference with their garden. Helping put back the dignity in the lives of others, make a positive contribution to the planet, and put some money in your pocket. Tap the richness from roses and value in vegetables. GARDENSynergy will grow well on you!

Seeds, soil, water and sunshine, are needed to make things grow. With thoughtful planting, sensible harvesting, we can live off the land. Giving vegetables, flowers and fruit, every garden is a blessing.

Chapter 28 – Promote agriculture and support farms everywhere

Farms provide food to sustain populations around the globe. With knowledge, plough and fortitude, the farmers make sure that life goes on. Lending a hand, to nurture the land. Our lives depend on it.

Many look at cereal and think that corn grows in a box. Far removed from the true source of food, farms are often thought of smelly places where cows trudge through mud. Supermarkets steal the thunder from the fields where the truth is harvested. Sun-drenched farmers are sometimes seen as weird strangers from out of town. FARMSynergy is all about getting our priorities back on the tractor.

Chicken or egg, there is no dispute as to where the food chain starts. If it were not for the farms, our cupboards would be bare and fridges host to only beer. Even then, hops is a cultivated crop. We rest our case. Time to turn the breakfast tables on ignorance and hail the heroes of our not-so-fast food supply. FARMSynergy creates synergy between anything to do with farms, the hardy workers who make them function, and everyone else involved, from combine harvester to that magic cereal box.

It is actually easy to identify everything in the orbit of farms. Crystalizing educational programs and projects that uninformed city dwellers can get their heads around. Serious, yet fun ways to focus on farms and lend a hand to elevate the land. Making visible the magic that happens when seeds go in and food comes out. Using the revenue share business model, we show people how they can get into the loop and make extra money for making farms the talk of the well-fed town. Let's speak up!

Pick your virtual plough, learn to milk a Metaverse cow, and get farm busy. There are many cool initiatives that slot into FARMSynergy, such as GARDENSynergy, RESOURCESynergy and BEESynergy. There are big moves a foot to get NOMADSynergy on many farms and organize KIDSynergy summer camps. Everything motivated by money for all parties concerned. That is the best fertilizer for any ambitious initiative, and we shall not fail. Help generate residual revenue and harvest what we grow!

Chapter 29 – Protecting and planting trees, a global responsibility

Forests are the lungs of the earth. The loss of trees should be a big concern. To breathe with ease, we need to plant more trees. Only harvesting wood when needed, and then replacing twice over.

TREESynergy goes out on a limb to help save trees. Going places where no root has reached before, this initiative facilitates many innovative ways for people to be more tree conscious. Protecting the poplar at the bottom of the garden, to fighting the destruction of the rain forests. As much as we like a nice wooden dining room table, it need not come at the expense of the planet. We all reside here, and our trees are a communal treasure. Looking out for one another and sitting in the shade together!

Many take trees for granted and do not realize the critical role they play in the ecosystem. Silently absorbing carbon dioxide, while hosting the nests of noisy birds, these polyvalent pillars of nature are only missed once gone. Our mission is to make every tree a shrine of sustainability. Using only what we need, judiciously selected, and immediately replaced. We cannot rely on governments alone to make these judgment calls. There's no place for dead wood; everyone should get involved!

There are trees in every corner of the world and this initiative should be ubiquitous. Trees don't grow in any specific language and leaves rustle in only one. They talk to us, and it behoves us to listen. That, we do well, and create synergy between everyone and everything related to our trees. Naturally this includes combining resources with GARDENSynergy, FARMSynergy and BEESynergy. RESOURCESynergy also features strongly and KIDSynergy comes along for the educational ride. Needless to say, the latter is of prime importance. Children will like their children to sit in shade too!

TREESynergy is not the average tree hugging exercise, although we encourage people to do just that, and make money. As usual, the success of any initiative depends on funding, so the emphasis is very much on generating revenue. Cutting down trees means money for some but keeping them upright could very well be more profitable. Help spread the word. Get the axe swinging in the opposite direction!

Forests are the lungs of the earth. The loss of trees should be a big concern. To breathe with ease, we need to plant more trees. Only harvesting wood when needed, and then replacing twice over.

Chapter 30 – Without bees, there will be no food, no life, no future

Without bees there will be no trees, flowers nor food. Every nation needs pollination. No honey, no money. Let's be smart and ensure we don't get stung. Help our busy friends stay alive and thrive.

A row of brightly coloured boxes, sitting in the shade of eucalyptus trees, tells a story that most people simply don't know. Cautious mothers know enough to tell children to stay well away. They are however the first to spread honey over buttered bread. Such is the interesting paradox of bees, it belies the tremendously important role that bees play in our everyday lives. It stings us into action!

Just like the alphabet would be at a loss, we cannot take the bees out. Unbelievably, they are on the pest control price list, right up there with snakes and spiders. Ignorance is prevalent and that's the pressing priority of BEESynergy. Educating the nervous and afraid; bees are critical and necessary!

BEESynergy intends to create such a buzz about our busy little friends, that bees will become to the whole world, what cows are to Hindus. Starting with education and following up with ample funding. Pumping lots of money into the problem, so that every single bee becomes a valuable commodity. Encouraging everyone around the globe to be more conscious and lend a hand wherever we can.

If there was ever an initiative that cross-pollinates well with all others, BEESynergy certainly does. There are bees in every garden, on farms, near trees and just about everywhere in between. From fields of flowers to supermarket shelves, COMMERCEsynergy also comes into play, with honey as a firm market favourite. BEESynergy makes cash registers ring sweetly, which helps the bees in turn.

There are many ways for people to get involved with this initiative. It's a fantastic opportunity to create synergy and earn extra income. All the while not getting anywhere near an actual bee, so being allergic is no excuse. We look forward to seeing everyone at the next meetup. Bee there!

Without bees there will be no trees, flowers nor food. Every nation needs pollination. No honey, no money. Let's be smart and ensure we don't get stung. Help our busy friends stay alive and thrive.

Chapter 31 – Help homeless cats and dogs stuck in rescue shelters

Helping homeless cats and dogs, stuck in animal shelters, we speak for our paw-legged friends. Getting everyone on the same frequency, combining resources, and pulling in the same direction.

My venture into the world of creating synergy started in June 2012. Newly retired from the pacey Information Technology industry, but too young to do nothing, PAWSynergy was born. This puppy grew into 45 initiatives along the same vein. The background story starts with supporting shelters from as far back as I can remember. Collecting, donating, walking and supporting, never doubting. Many decades of giving time and forking over funds to the homeless cats and dogs. My last hurrah from the professional world was donating truckloads of office and computer equipment to charity.

Only to discover that most of those items ended up in second-hand stores, and the homes of animal shelter staff. It took GPS tracking chips to show me the stupidity of my ways. For many years I must have been pouring good money into the unethical pockets of others. Funding the lifestyle of charity con artists. Not implying that it's rampant, but enough for me to reflect ~ "Fool me once, shame on you. Fool me twice, shame on me!" There had to be a better way to raise funds with accountability.

PAWSynergy is not a charity. We do NOT accept nor give donations. It's all about making LOTS of money, and then paying the bills of selected animal shelters. We buy the food, settle vet bills, build infrastructure, install computer systems and management teams. The animal shelter staff becomes paid puppy patriots and do not control the kitty, pun intended. There's a new shelter sheriff in town!

The mission is to create synergy between everyone with an interest in helping rescued animals stuck in animal shelters around the globe. Individuals, companies and entities who speak up for those that cannot speak for themselves. Our goal is to get everyone with an interest in pets to pull in the same direction. We specifically seek out animal shelters that need financial assistance and want to raise their game. Without changing the status quo of the shelter, nor any branding, but simply assist to improve conditions, efficiency and results. PAWSynergy believes that an empty shelter is a good one!

Helping homeless cats and dogs, stuck in animal shelters, we speak for our paw-legged friends. Getting everyone on the same frequency, combining resources, and pulling in the same direction.

Chapter 32 – Going the extra flying mile to find better forever homes

Forever homes are not always around the corner. Going the extra aeronautical mile, to make sure adopted pets get there faster, in comfort. Up and away, where there's a home, there's a quicker way.

The story starts in 1992. I was island hopping in my Piper Cherokee Six and enjoying the freedom of going from one small coral airstrip to another. One moonlit night on the sandy beach of Rock Sound, Bahamas, I was sitting quietly under the palm trees. A man came out of the shadows and waded into the sea with a hessian bag, rope and rock. The bag was moving and yelping. I instantly confronted the man, and he ran away. Retrieving the sack I found two dozen puppies, managing to save 13. Turns out that would be a lucky number for said puppies. They would live to see barking days.

The Bahamas has thousands of stray dogs called Potcakes. Named after the habit whereby the locals leave their rice cooking pots out for the stray dogs to feed from. There are no coordinated efforts to neuter and spay, hence the only form of control is to drown the puppies as they breed. Unable to help the thousands, I did at least save 13 by flying them to Florida, into the adoption system there. My thinking was that if I can do it for 13, we can do it for 13000. I vowed to be back.

Life got in the way. In 2016 I moved back to Florida. The plan was to have a retirement home in the Bahamas and spend my days flying volunteer vets out to the islands, and fly strays back to the USA for adoption. However, in the same year the political landscape in the USA changed. Turdy Trump would not renew my visa as I'm from a "shitty" country. Bye-bye Uncle Sam and I moved to Europe. There are even more strays there, so the project lives on. We focus on the UK and Central Europe. The strays in the streets of Sicily have a much better chance of adoption in the richer north of Italy, with fancy collars and premium dog food waiting in the homes around Milan. Simply a flight away!

Wings4paws collaborates with PAWSynergy, PAWSecondChance and Aviation Synergy. While helping with the plight of dogs and cats stuck in rescue shelters, we also support the aviation industry. The planes are flown by trainee commercial pilots who need to build up hours. There are also private pilots who can volunteer space in their planes and fly newly adopted pets closer to forever homes. Feel good feelings all around, as we help solve the homeless pet problem, and cunningly justify the carbon footprints in the sky. Aviation is a money intensive industry, but we are up to the challenge.

Forever homes are not always around the corner. Going the extra aeronautical mile, to make sure adopted pets get there faster, in comfort. Up and away, where there's a home, there's a quicker way.

Chapter 33 – Community resource for lost, found and adoptable pets

A resource for lost, found and adoptable pets. Using geolocation technology and the reach of social media, everyone, anywhere is empowered to lend a hand, and reunite pets with distressed owners.

Anyone spending time on social media will note the multitude of pleas to find lost pets. Many Facebook timelines and groups are sure to see posts of distressed dogs, or cats gone missing. Likewise, a walk around your neighbourhood will show trees telling tragic tales of lost dogs, and lampposts lamenting about cats that did not make it home last week. We need a better messenger.

As they say, there's an app for that. Lost-Found-Adopt is more than a mobile application. It is a technology platform for the pet industry. Intentionally blandly named and devoid of branding, advertising and devious ploys to sell you and/or your pet something. There are existing apps out there, but their intent is to sell more pet food, than actually reunite owners with their paw-legged friends. Also, most apps are written for the USA marketplace, and only work with zip codes. There is a world beyond the East and West coasts, with more pets globally. Also, a zip is a thing to hide many things. Postcodes are where most people live, and so do their pets. Lost~Found~Adopt is worldwide!

For such a global app to succeed, it must be ubiquitous and device neutral. Pets don't care about the Apple elite, nor the Android devotees, they just want to be reunited quickly. The app is programmed in Flutter. Not the wings of a Hummingbird, but there's a similarity. We want this app to be very busy. It works in three stages: Allow anyone to easily report a LOST pet; quickly make a post if a lost pet is FOUND; unclaimed pets can be flagged as ADOPT. ~ All done by pointing your phone at the problem! ~

Lost~Found~Adopt has digital channels to PAWSecondChance, that welcomes unclaimed animals, speeds up the adoption process, and helps them hitch a ride with Wings4paws. Ably supported by PAWSynergy, LFA is an important corner of our FOUR PAW STRATEGY. Creating synergy in the pet industry, educating owners, encouraging responsibility, and reducing the unwanted population of dogs and cats. A tall task indeed, like preventing poo on pavements or herding curious cats, but as Yoda says, "There is no try!" Lost~Found~Adopt is free to use, with a revenue generation master plan!

Anyone can help find forever homes much faster. Speed up the adoption process, by making it easy for prospective owners to rescue homeless pets. This is your chance to give them a second chance!

There is no shortage of stranded pets in shelters (just sitting there) waiting for their second chance. However, the venues and mechanisms to get more visibility for their plight are lacking. That is what PAWSecondChance is all about. Creating synergy between all the possible places to adopt not shop! Hopeful adopters usually drive down to the local animal shelter, search online, and/or scout social media. The sources are all over the place. We aim to focus everything into just ONE SINGLE SOURCE!

The first job at hand is to locate and map all the animal shelters around the world. Also, all the web sites, Facebook Pages/Groups, and other venues that advertise pets available for adoption. People should only need to use one directory and geographically locate the nearest adoption sources around them. None of them competing, but rather working together to make it very easy for prospective pet parents to find companions. The overall result is to speed up adoptions and reduce the wait times.

A noble mission indeed and seemingly difficult to achieve is entirely possible if we encourage many people around the world, to lend a local hand. We provide a platform and suite of services to do just that. Empowering animal lovers (and even not) to foster community, create unity, recruit proactive affiliates, generate revenue and facilitate adoption events. Let's get lonely pets into the limelight.

PAWSecondChance is an entity on its own with a specific purpose to help speed up pet adoptions. Lost~Found~Adopt is a tributary to that flow. In the process we identify struggling shelters that need more help and steer them towards PAWSynergy. Raising their game and getting more pets ready for homes. In swoops Wing4paws, which goes the extra flying mile to get pets there faster, safer, and less traumatized. This is a chance for anyone, anywhere to help give distressed animals a second chance!

Chapter 35 – Understanding and protecting all our feathered friends

Birds play an essential part in nature's opera. Insect and pest control, without nasty chemicals. Falconry is an effective way to keep airport runways safe. Bird feeders add audio to gardens.

Our feathered friends soar above us, walk at our feet and are generally everywhere. Various species integrating into all facets of our lives, be it canaries in a cage, owls in a barn, or pigeons in the park. Exotic or pest, every bird has the right to exist and, like everything on this planet, we tend to abuse and refuse to learn from our mistakes. This initiative is a community effort to mitigate and educate.

FEATHERSynergy takes a different approach to avian conservation and awareness. Creating synergy between all the organizations, governments, and enthusiasts who have an interest in birds. With a more proactive approach as to how we can further feathered causes. Of course, it all depends on lots of money and that's where our business model excels. We know how to generate residual revenue and invest it back into birds. Anything from building avian sanctuaries to funding oil spill recovery.

We cross pollinate several of our initiatives with FEATHERSynergy. An example is Aviation Synergy, where we work with airports to implement falconry, in order to clear runways. FARMSynergy has a component to make farmers aware of better ways to control problem birds. GARDENSynergy helps promote the installation of bird baths and feeders. There are several easy ways to help our birds.

This initiative provides a full suite of services for everyone to use. A courteous community, social networking, bird watching meetups, online courses and directory/map of bird related resources. Also, industry specific jobsboard, eventspace and marketplace. With a productive affiliate program to encourage people around the world to help birds and make extra money in the process. Join us!

Chapter 36 – Relocate distressed horses and donkeys to sanctuaries

Mighty beasts of burden become powerless when abandoned. Homeless horses and desperate donkeys deserve better. With communal effort, these hoofed heroes can be afforded sanctuary.

Horses, donkeys and mules have served humanity for many centuries. Brave beasts of burden, pulling ploughs and transporting riders. Replaced by mechanical means over time and cast aside. Nevertheless, there are still many hooves hammering hard roads, taking loads up hills, equestrian sports and entertaining us at racetracks. Sadly, many are victims of abuse and neglect. That is the main focus of this initiative, whereby we alleviate the suffering of these beautiful, broken beasts.

HOOVESynergy creates synergy between all entities related to hooves. The first task at hand is to build a global directory of all sanctuaries. Geographically located and positioned to welcome retired horses and discarded donkeys. Providing funding for new infrastructure, maintenance, management and running costs. Keeping horses and donkeys can be hugely expensive. Residual revenue is key.

This initiative dovetails with Aviation Synergy whereby we negotiate airport runway surrounds for grazing. FARMSynergy finds suitable land for sanctuaries. We constantly search for innovative ways to solve problems through RESOURCESynergy and Vehicle Synergy. One strategy to get tired cart horses and donkeys off third-world streets, is to buy out the owners and fund electric vehicles.

Money can solve many problems, with education right behind. However, it takes good planning and resolve, usually found in people who are passionate and determined. Using the full suite of services, community, meetups, courses, directory, jobsboard, eventspace and marketplace, anyone can get involved and earn extra money for their efforts. Your opportunity to saddle up and ride with us.

Crammed into cages and paraded through city streets, wild animals are NOT clowns. Forced to perform and entertain. Stop. Go wild and throw your hat into the bigger ring, to set them free.

Growing up in the 60's and 70's without television, the entertainment highlight in my small town, was the arrival of the circus. Posters going up and cars with megaphones blared through the streets, we practically camped at the circus ground, in fear of missing the fun. Entertainment for us, but no fun for the wild animals forced to parade in the ring, while we blissfully munched on popcorn. As we get older, the realities of circus stupidity become apparent, and our mindset changes. Circuses are cruel.

Simply signing petitions is not going to hack it. We have to follow a more effective strategy, shine a light on every circus we can find, and persuade them to adapt. Not shut down, as there is nothing wrong with clowns and trapeze artists. It's the elephants, lions and tigers, that we have to get out of the ring. Helping swap out that revenue channel for something that makes more cents, literally. How about working with PAWSynergy and PAWSecondChance and taking adoptable animals with them in those wild animal cages? There are many innovative ideas instilled by CIRCUSynergy. Let's do this!

The first job at hand is to find, track and trace every single circus on this planet. From large players to the small travelling road shows in distant countries. Using the power of the Internet and reach of social media, everyone can help by providing local intelligence. We are building a global database of circuses both good and bad. Putting pressure where we can encourage change. Naming, shaming and boycotts if need be. The intent is not to destroy the livelihood of others, but rather to get them on a profitable path; not at the expense of wild animals. Let's keep the clowns and hot popcorn.

We invite circus lovers around the world to help us make this change. Get proactively involved and use the suite of services made available to do just that. Join a vibrant community of caring people who want to get circus animals back into the wild. This takes money and our business model lends itself well to generating residual revenue. Buying out the animals, if need be, providing subsidies for willing circus owners, paying them to rather parade adoptable pets. Those cages can serve a better purpose, and appeal to animal lovers in the circus audience. It's time to think outside the big tent!

Chapter 38 – Clear out zoos and release wild animals from captivity

Under the guise of conservation and education, zoos are filled with wild animals. Out of natural habitat, inadequate space, and often starved. Help stop the naivety and end this cruel captivity.

In a world becoming a zoo itself, there are many zoos. Whoever came up with the idea of holding animals captive, for us to gawk at through iron bars, is not the one to blame for this stupidity. The real culprits are the people who are paying for the privilege and propagating the pain. Why displace these animals from natural habitats, condemning them to a life of loneliness and misery? Zoos are a relic of the past, when wooden ships brought curiosities to us. Now we can simply watch National Geographic, use virtual reality headsets, and/or travel right to the misty hills where gorillas roam.

To make matters worse, many zoos are derelict and deteriorating, due to lack of funding and/or war. When refugees flee town, the last thing they think about is taking a tiger with them. The bottom line is that zoos just don't make sense, and we have to do something about these concentrated cages of cruel captivity. A concerted effort to shut down bad zoos and/or repurpose the building complexes.

Not all zoos are bad and there are many ways we can make changes for the better. Easier said than done, what it takes is willing hands and lots of money. So, what else is new? ZOOSynergy is new, we have a plan, and the business model to sustain it. All we have to do is find the people to participate.

Zoos basically consist of bricks and mortar, patches of land, and generally located within city limits. Picture places where people can still go to get an exotic fix, but with a different entertainment focus. What we need to do is take the vulnerable animals out of the equation, keep those that are happy in a glass tank, and supplement the attractions with another type of wild. Using technology to put on virtual displays and immersive journeys. Bringing animals to people, and they can still walk their baby strollers in the park. It continues to be a happy family outing.

Let's bring zoos into the future!

Under the guise of conservation and education, zoos are filled with wild animals. Out of natural habitat, inadequate space, and often starved. Help stop the naivety and end this cruel captivity.

Building a global portfolio of quality establishments for our discerning membership. Only the best. Homes away from home. Everything you would expect. The perfect stay. You may not want to leave.

All our initiatives include a fair amount of effort. However, it's not all work and no play. Also, we are continuously looking for cool places to stay. Be it for our team, members and affiliates, staying in a home away from home, increases productivity. While there are many ways to find accommodation, read reviews and book accordingly, we've opted to build our own platform. Figuring out favourable destinations and welcoming foyers. Creating synergy between everyone in the hospitality industry.

This is not about competing with Airbnb, nor replacing TripAdvisor, but a full suite of services that provides much more. This includes helping all hospitality property owners make good use of the revenue share business model. Breaking free from Booking.com and not being held hostage by travel search giants and aggregators. Bringing down the eventual cost to the guests, and putting more money in the pockets of everyone concerned. There is a better way to find, book, and stay.

The travel and accommodation industry are huge, and we cannot do all this alone. We have teamed up with the likes of Cloudbeds. Not wanting to reinvent the wheel, we hitched onto wagons already going places. Always looking out for the little guys, we are not big fans of the corporate hotel chains. Rather helping the smaller properties become big players in the hearts of guests, STAYSynergy is all about personal service. Going back to a property must be like coming home, leaving should be hard.

We invite people from all over the world to become involved in STAYSynergy. It's a global family. A network of properties that are an extension of our front door, and into the rooms of another. Find accredited places to stay and sometimes at no cost. Think home swapping and service bartering. Places to stay and work, while looking after plants and pets. Rooms with a view are waiting for you!

Chapter 40 – Reward yourself by relaxing on luxury yacht cruises

Gathering a fleet of private yachts, based in discrete and interesting ports. Available to our membership, and free to our high achievers. Creating synergy, can lead to relaxing rewards.

Hard work deserves just reward. Going on a luxury cruise is not a bad way to unwind, recover, relax and recharge. Generally associated with high cost, going on a cruise is not for those in poverty. That does not mean people without means cannot earn their way to the waves. Incentivising is just one of the reasons we have an interest in the cruise industry. It's an effective way to motivate our affiliates.

My own interest in this industry goes back to the creation of the first Internet Cruise in 1996. I have hosted many seminars and training workshops on cruise ships. A captive classroom and perfect party venue. Business networking works well on so-called booze cruises. Relaxed minds mingle monetarily when revenue sharing is discussed. Productive deals usually materialize, with friendly challenges not uncommon. The affiliate marketing industry is famously competitive. Game on!

There are many ways to integrate cruising with all our initiatives. Working closely with cruise ship companies, helping them with revenue sharing strategies, and affiliate marketing campaigns to fill empty cabins. Examples are win-a-cruise competitions and luxury giveaways. Cruising is one of the most popular consumer categories. It lends itself well to marketing and impulse holiday booking.

Some prefer the more sedate and exclusive cruise ships. Smaller and more refined, these floating boutique hotels are key to this initiative. We are building our own small fleet of seagoing vessels to accommodate our members and affiliates. The ultimate in luxurious reward, in return for generating copious amounts of residual revenue. Monetary success is like sailing; more wind gets you there faster!

Chapter 41 – Gain financial independence with residual revenue

There is no harm in hustling hard, no shame in making money. Working smart, to earn much more. With revenue sharing skills, financial independence, is not just a state of mind. Share and grow rich!

All our initiatives are based on the revenue sharing business model. The basic concept of affiliate marketing revolves around pay-for-performance. The merchant only pays an affiliate if and when actual sales occur. This has a distinct advantage over the "hit and miss" of traditional advertising. Affiliates are not tied by employment contracts and are free to earn unlimited income, based on effort and merit. There are many household brands that use affiliate programs as a primary sales channel. Amazon is the most notable. Many people use affiliate programs and are not aware of it.

I first started utilizing affiliate marketing in 1995. Seeking alternatives to the Multi-Level Marketing craze, as I did not feel comfortable with all that hype. Hitting up family members and hustling to sell overpriced products. Worse still, enthusing people to sign up to a downline, pre-buy stock, and end up with a garage full of broken dreams. I slept much better at night knowing that affiliates don't pay anything to join affiliate programs. All they have to do is promote with the given tools and get paid for results. A fair, no obligation business arrangement, benefitting both parties, with steady growth.

The readers here, who are actively participating in these initiatives, are no doubt seeing the levels increase in their bank account. That usually gives rise to an acute interest in getting more involved. The allure of residual income, and earning extra money while you sleep, makes a normal job seem mundane. Once the fire of financial freedom has been lit, there comes with it a desire to do more, learn and make it a profession. There are many super affiliates who make more in a day, than most people will make in a year. This is not the selling of a get-rich-quick dream, it's a statement of fact.

The purpose of AFFILIATESynergy is to help casual affiliates become professional affiliates. Those who wish to make affiliate marketing a full-time occupation, and work towards financial freedom. Leaving the confines of a cubicle in a windowless office is easy, but you have to step into something that will actually work for you. That means gaining knowledge. Learning the ins and outs of affiliate marketing, how to find and join affiliate programs that produce. Trial and error, when there are bills to pay, is going to send you right back to that cubicle. Rather step inside here and do it right. Let's go!

There is no harm in hustling hard, no shame in making money. Working smart, to earn much more. With revenue sharing skills, financial independence, is not just a state of mind. Share and grow rich!

Chapter 42 – Ethical partners to diversify and increase our income

Affiliate programs consist of good technology, money, and honesty. When ethics fail, bad actors can, and do appear. By identifying reputable partners and affiliates, we help keep it fair in revenue share.

Where money is involved, there will always be greed, dishonesty and questionable ethics. Usually those who want to control that money, direct the narrative, and profit unethically, are the first to create “associations”. Some skulk in the digital shadows, the really unscrupulous often hide in plain sight. Some of the most prominent affiliate programs are the proverbial wolf. The sheep they slyly gather are none the wiser. Affiliates are treated unfairly. Disillusioned, they simply quit the industry.

I speak from experience. In the late '90s the Internet revolution was in full bloom. We were making lots of money with affiliate marketing. The problem in the modern day Wild Wild West, the cowboys were taking the buffalo bacon, right from under our noses. Digital robbery. The sheriffs were slow on the Internet uptake, and did not even know how to spell byte, let alone the smell of buffalo. We were on our own, legally. There was no way to bring merchants to account for taking advantage of affiliates and withholding commissions without justification. Possession is nine tenths of the law.

My first attempt to define the ethics and standards for affiliate marketing was back in 1999. We created the Internet Affiliate Marketing Association (iAfma.org) and set about trying to orchestrate, educate, and regulate. We failed. The big gun merchants simply steam rolled on their unscrupulous way. By the same token, the affiliate barrel also had bad apples, and the whole industry started to ferment. Unable to push back the tide, I retreated to higher ground and started a traditional IT company, in the known world of traditional commerce, invoices and salaries. Old school ethics.

Now that I'm retired and the siren song of affiliate marketing beckons strongly again, we are back. The Internet Affiliate Marketing Association has been revived, albeit with a difference. It's not about controlling unethical players, but rather protecting our own game. My desire to help keep it fair in revenue share remains intact, but with age comes wisdom. We can easily keep our own back yard clean and tidy, but not necessarily prevent the residents across town from living in their soiled underwear. Each to their own. Our hope is that the wind always blows in the other direction.

iAfma.org focuses on making sure that all our initiatives keep it fair in revenue. We do include outside affiliate programs, but very selectively. Only accrediting merchants with squeaky clean affiliate programs, who treat their affiliates with respect, and pay on time. The same for affiliates. Everyone is welcome but have to abide by our rules. We do our best to coach even those on the dark side to cross over to the well-lit land of Ethics & Standards. Old school values in this TikTok world, where a fast buck tries to outrun the honest hare. We prefer to slowly catch a monkey. Assuming that we're running out of animal analogies, don't be a tortoise; join iAfma.org today!

Chapter 43 – Meet virtually and/or in person to contribute and learn

Meeting virtually, or in person, we need to interact. Easily connecting 24/7 online and attending selected local socials. Find and promote meetups, earning referral commissions in the process.

We are social creatures that are driven to discussion and détente. Be it with family, friends, clients and professional associates, we need to talk. Face to face meetings are still the best way to interact. Virtual meetups take distance out of the equation, and your chats are just a click away. With only so much time on hand, the noise to content ratio depends on us. There are those who become quite addicted to the ease of communication, and some that shy away completely. We have a choice.

All our initiatives already have a meetup component, with ready access to 24/7 virtual chat rooms, and local social networking. MEETUPSynergy consolidates all 45 platforms, and it also catalogues meetups outside of our initiative sphere. Giving participants a niche, yet broader range of meetup possibilities. There are already websites that cater for meetups on a global scale, but these tend to be commercialized and not professionally moderated. Unfortunately, we live in a world where good manners have diminished. It's hard to find a coherent communication medium where common decency and mutual respect are compulsory. MEETUPSynergy is all about courteous meetings.

The focus here is on making new acquaintances around the world. Comparing notes and finding common ground. It's a professional platform, not a personal dating site. While business networking is certainly encouraged, drive-by commercial spammers will be disappointed. Our moderators have a digital baton, quicker than any get-rich-scheme that may surface here. Devious behaviour is dead in the water. Any conversation that's not family friendly is quickly thrown out, along with said diaper.

Considering the vast variety of topics out there, this initiative will bloom and grow exponentially. Courteous platforms attract discerning people who appreciate that quality conversation beats shouting in a raucous crowd. Less is more and we look forward to you taking the meetup floor.

A centralized calendar of events around the world. Briefly described in directory listings, and easily found with geolocation. Helping to promote events, earning referral commissions in the process.

Since the beginning of civilization people have attended gatherings. From hunting parties to political rallies, and everything in between, we like to attend events. Passive attendance and/or with active participation, attendees determine the atmosphere and ultimately the outcome. Successful events leave everyone entertained and satisfied. Produce a poor event and the audience will react badly. Organizers have to plan very carefully and deliver on the day, otherwise they boo and go away.

All the initiatives in our sphere of synergy include an eventspace with online calendar of events. Rolling these into EVENTSynergy, it becomes a dynamic, centralized catalogue. To this we add carefully selected global events, exhibitions, seminars, presentations, workshops, and many self-improvement opportunities. Notwithstanding that searchers may find their way to a rock concert and/or fly-fishing symposium through this website. There is generally something here for everyone.

EVENTSynergy is building a vibrant community resource that makes it easier for our members to sift through the myriad of events. Of course, there are many sources of event information on the web, but this is not about simply listing events. We dive deeper into the roots of every event, and help organizers promote and sell more tickets, using the revenue share business model. Make it go viral!

The best way to spread the word about events is word of mouth. When those voices are rewarded financially, the chorus grows louder. We aim to take away the power of the traditional ticket vendors and give a piece of the cake to the average Joe and Jane. Join with us and help make more tickets rain!
